WELCOME

Dear Graduates, Families, and Friends,

Welcome to Wilmington University's commencement ceremony. Our administration, faculty and staff consider it a privilege to share with you this significant life achievement, and we congratulate you on a job well done.

For more than five decades, our genuine respect for all students has never wavered. From the start, we have believed in providing opportunities to diverse students, and we remain grounded in our commitment to academic excellence. Regardless of whether you are earning your undergraduate, graduate or doctoral degree, we respect your decision to embrace this difficult educational journey. You now join our international alumni association, and like fellow graduates worldwide, we are confident that you will make meaningful contributions to your community.

When you accept your diploma, remember the extraordinary people who stood beside you throughout your academic journey.

While you may be leaving Wilmington University, please know that our hearts and minds will always be with you. We hope your hard-earned degree opens a world of possibilities and that you will look back with fondness on your days at your alma mater.

On behalf of the administration, faculty and staff, please accept our sincerest congratulations. We hope we have served you well.

ACADEMIC DEGREES

THE ASSOCIATE DEGREE

The associate degree is an academic degree awarded by community colleges, junior colleges, four-year universities, business colleges, and some bachelor's degree-granting colleges or universities upon completion of a course of study usually lasting two years.

THE BACHELOR'S DEGREE

The bachelor's degree is the oldest academic degree used by American institutions of higher learning. The degree was first conferred in America in 1642 on nine young men comprising the first graduating class of Harvard College. The bachelor's degree, or baccalaureate, represents completion of a four-year collegiate course of study.

THE MASTER'S DEGREE

The master's degree is academic honor conferred upon students who have successfully completed one or two years of work beyond the baccalaureate. A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. The term's present meaning derives from the oldest universities in Europe, when the circle of academic pursuit was limited to seven liberal arts. Those who received public honors upon the completion of their studies and who already had received the degree baccalaureus were called magistri atrium (master of the arts).

THE DOCTORAL DEGREE

Doctor is a term meaning teacher or instructor, and was applied by ancient Romans to those who delivered public lectures on philosophical subjects. From the 12th century, it became a title of honor for men of great learning. It was first made an academic title at the University of Bologna, in Italy, which received from the emperor the right to appoint doctors legume (doctors of laws).

There are two types of doctoral degrees: the professional degree and the research degree. The first represents advanced training for the practice of professions such as medicine, pharmacy, law or nursing. These degrees carry no implication of original research.

The research doctorate represents prolonged advanced study, usually accompanied by a dissertation designed to make a substantial contribution to existing knowledge on the subject. The degree confers upon those who attain it the title doctor of philosophy, although the degree no longer is associated with the study of philosophy. It was first awarded in the United States by Yale University in 1861.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS

ACADEMIC COSTUME

The traditional black caps and gowns worn in the academic procession have been the costume of scholars since medieval times. They were likely adapted from ecclesiastical garb, since many scholars in the Middle Ages were clerics. In 1895, an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for academic costumes, which the majority of colleges and universities in the United States have adopted.

Each of the three academic degrees has its own distinctive gown and hood. The gown representing the bachelor's degree has a long, pointed sleeve; the master's a narrow sleeve; the doctor's a full, bell-shaped sleeve with three bars of velvet. The opening of this gown is faced with wide velvet bands, which may be or of a color indicating the wearer's general field of learning.

The most colorful and distinctive part of the academic costume is the hood, which passes around the neck and extends down the back. The color of the velvet edging indicates the wearer's field of learning. The colors of silk lining exposed in the center of the hood are those of the college or university that conferred the degree.

Although the cap, or mortarboard, is uniform in design for all degrees, the tassel may be either black or the color of the field of learning. The tassel of the doctor's cap may be gold.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University mace was created for the 1971 commencement and has been used at each subsequent commencement ceremony. The mace, which is a traditional symbol of authority, includes the seal of Wilmington University, wrought in brass, on a walnut staff.

THE BANNERS

The five commencement banners identify the disciplines whose graduates this ceremony honors. Each banner incorporates the University seal, together with colors that echo the graduates' hoods.

Each college has its own academic honor society. Students wearing colored cords or sashes are wearing the colors which signify membership in the honor society of their particular college.
