

Doctor of Education in Educational Leadership

The Ed.D. in Educational Leadership Empowers K-12 Leaders

Wilmington University's Ed.D. in Educational Leadership is designed to create innovative scholar-practitioners. Accredited by CAEP, WilmU's College of Education and Liberal Arts uses courses grounded in reality to prepare capable leaders and artful change agents who are well-equipped to address the challenges facing today's schools.

Three Pathways of Study

The Teacher Leadership track is the only program of its kind in the region and supports the role of advanced practitioner in the K-12 classroom. The Building Leadership track inspires candidates to problem-solve and enrich interactions among faculty and leadership on the school level. The District Leadership track studies impactful change across the K-12 spectrum.

Complete Your Educational Leadership EdD in Three Years

Busy educators can't always set aside years at a time for advanced study. WilmU's flexible program uses skillfully designed curricula, a hybrid online/face-to-face schedule and accelerated learning options to provide doctoral study with no career disruption.

Learn From and Alongside Engaged Education Leaders

You will address a real issue in education leadership through a practice-based action research project, with guidance from faculty who are engaged subject-matter experts. The cohort model used in this program fosters collaboration with fellow candidates, who will form a regional network of education leaders you can call upon during your career.
