

Associate of Science in Applied Behavioral Health

Launch or Advance Your Career in Applied Behavioral Health Professions

WilmU's online Applied Behavioral Health program offers the knowledge, skills and credential to embark on a career in a wide variety of behavioral health environments, including substance abuse and recovery support, corrections, family and youth services, mental health, human services, foster care, gerontology/elder services, and services for special needs/exceptional children and adults.

Stand Out With a Degree

Entry-level positions increasingly require higher education. This associate degree program can help you stand out as a candidate with better training for managing professional communications, for handling caseloads, for abiding by federal and local regulations, and for advancing to leadership positions.

Gain Durable Skills

Coursework will prepare you to understand helping relationships, to use active listening skills and value-free communication, to maintain ethical client interactions and confidentiality, to support recovery behaviors, to understand crisis intervention and ongoing therapeutic intervention, and to properly document information as required by HIPAA.

Dual-Credit ADVANTAGE™ Program

This Applied Behavioral Health associate degree is a valuable stand-alone credential, and it can also serve as the first step in your higher education pathway. Credits from the A.S. in Applied Behavioral Health can be applied to the B.S. in Behavioral Science, the B.S. in Criminal Justice or the B.S. in Psychology. It's a great way to save time and tuition dollars!
