

Associate of Science in Applied Technology

A Strong STEM Program, Customizable to Your Goals

Designed for students seeking a STEM/STEAM degree in person or 100% online, Wilmington University's associate degree program in Applied Technology allows you to develop your skills through selected tech-related pathways while gaining a well-rounded academic foundation. It's a perfect choice for those looking to enter the present-day technology environment or for those with some professional experience who are looking to make a career change.

Broad IT Foundations With Options to Personalize

Applied technology coursework explores information assurance, process management, information systems, multimedia production, software applications, technical language, design and maker disciplines. A choice of electives lets you analyze emerging technologies that align with your career interests.

Earn Technology Certificates While Earning Your Associate Degree

This online technology degree program offers you the opportunity to choose courses with credits that apply to both your associate degree and a related WilmU certificate, such as Graphic Design or Java Programming.

Optimum Value and Flexibility in a Technology Associate Degree

With courses offered in person or 100% online, this associate degree in Applied Technology has the flexibility to fit your schedule. WilmU's low in-state tuition rates for all students also makes it affordable. And you'll enjoy our small class sizes that keep you engaged in your studies and in contact with your instructors.
