

Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP)

Become an Expert Clinician and Health Care Leader

Wilmington University's flexible and affordable DNP degree program prepares advanced practice nurses and nurse leaders with the integrated clinical and leadership skills necessary for advanced nursing practice. Courses examine the relationships among health policy, informatics, population health and business practices in the care of individuals, families and communities.

Hands-On DNP Courses Guided by Seasoned Practitioners and Health Care Leaders

Doctorally prepared DNP faculty will lead you as you bridge the gap between research and clinical practice through coursework, practice experience hours and a DNP project.

Flexible Program Options

WilmU's DNP program offers 100% online options for optimum flexibility.

Many DNP Paths To Reach Your Goal

In addition to the traditional DNP pathway (with a choice of Advanced Practice or Leadership), WilmU also offers: an accelerated MSN to DNP pathway, a combined DNP + MBA in Health Care Administration, a DNP + MS in Management in Health Care Administration, a PhD to DNP pathway and a combined DNP + Post-Master's Nurse Practitioner certificate in five specialties.

Note: For the dual-degree options of DNP + MBA or MS in Management, candidates must first be accepted into the DNP program and then work with the college to add the MBA or MS in Management. In order to qualify for the dual degree, the programs must be started at the same time. Contact your program chair for guidance.
